WANTED--- A FERRY
Strike Emphasizes the Value to District of Transportation

NOT one resident of this district needs to be reminded today of the importance of ferry service in this locale.

With all C.P.R. coastal vessels swinging at anchor at Royal Roads, English Bay and Nanaimo Harbor, a social and economic paralysis has struck the coast.

WERE it not for the operation of the Black Ball ferries between Sidney and Anacortes, the situation would be much worse. Vancouver Island and the Gulf Islands will breathe great sighs of relief when normal ferry service is restored. They'll receive an even greater fillup when the long awaited Sidney - Gulf Islands - Vancouver service is launched.

At the time of writing, The Review is not too clear just how this week's issue is to travel to readers on Saturna, Mayne, Galiano and North and South Pender Islands. They usually are transported on the Princess Mary, now idle at Vancouver. Every effort will be made to despatch the newspaper by some other means, however.

MEANWHILE, strike or no strike, the crucial meeting on ferry service will be held at Galiano Lodge, Galiano Island, on Tuesday, Aug. 29. Strong delegations have been named from each of the affected Gulf Islands while a representative group will sail from Vancouver Island. A large number of reputable and aggressive organizations will be represented. President Fred Hawes of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, whose summer home is at Deep Cove, will head the representatives of his organization.

It is expected that strong resolutions urging the inauguration of such a modern ferry service will be passed at the meeting.

Delegates are expected to arrive at Galiano before noon and a brisk business session will follow the luncheon which is being arranged.

82nd Annual Event TRANSPORT STRIKE NOT TO DELAY SAANICHTON SHOW

About $2,500 in prize money will be awarded in more than 750 classes at the Saanichton Fall Fair on Labor Day, Sept. 4.

This represents a far cry from the showing and prize money offered at the first of these fairs 82 years ago. The department of trade and industry writes in the program, which was issued last week, "the story of the Saanich Peninsula is to a great extent the story of British Columbia. No district is richer in its associations nor more intimately connected with the growth of this great province."

The Saanichton Fair has been one of the factors leading up to the present-day position of the Saanich Peninsula. Annually for nearly a century the farmers and

In response to numerous recent requests from readers, The Review is happy this week to publish its first crossword puzzle. This will be a regular weekly feature of this newspaper.

The Review would be pleased to learn from its readers if the weekly puzzle is considered worthwhile.

New Schools On Islands

Secure Site at Fulford;
Now Building at Mayne Island

A new school for Fulford Harbor is projected by trustees of Salt Spring Island School District No. 64.

Property for the new school has been purchased in the general vicinity of Fulford Inn, The Review learns.

A two-roomed school is projected and it is hoped to have one room at least in operation by the fall of 1951.

On Mayne Island workmen are now completing the first unit of a new two-roomed school. Two rooms will accordingly be in use there this fall, the first being the old classroom and the second in the new structure. Previously only one room was provided.

No plebiscite has been required for these new buildings as the school board anticipated the need and has provided its own financial share of the cost. The provincial government will pay half of the cost.

Son of Brentwood Man Promoted

Announcement was made in Toronto last week of the appointment of J. K. Jamieson as assistant general manager of the manufacturing department of the Imperial Oil Co. The oil company executive is the only son of J. L. Jamieson of Brentwood, retired C.P.R. superintendent.

J. K. Jamieson, who has been an official of the Imperial Oil for some time, recently visited his father here. He flew to Patricia Bay airport from the east in one of the company's planes.

Aircraft Debris On Mount Tuam

Recent logging operations on Salt Spring Island have denuded the hillsides in numerous places. Residents of North Saanich have been curious to learn the source of a brilliant reflection of sunlight from the side of Mount Tuam.

Investigation proved that the wing of a R.A.F. Hamden, which crashed there during the recent war, has been exposed by the operations. The debris may be clearly seen from the Satellite Channel.

SAANICHTON EXPERIMENTAL STATION KEEPS
ABREAST OF AGRICULTURAL DEVELOPMENTS

NEW WING AT GREENHOUSE

Above is depicted the new extension to the greenhouse at the Dominion Experimental Station at Saanichton. The new structure was described in the July-August issue of the B.C. Electric Service News. The new wing is 51 ft. long and 21 ft. 6 ins. wide. It is divided into three sections, each of which may be maintained at different temperatures. The extension will be invaluable for furthering tests of the influence of temperature variations on the growing of bulbs and other crops. Artificial lighting may also be employed to extend the hours of daylight. The building is heated by an oil-fired boiler.

New equipment is being constantly installed at the Dominion Experimental Station at Saanichton. The fine record of achievement is maintained by following up all new treatments of plants and all new species. To enable members of the staff at the station to fully pursue their investigations it is necessary to replace outmoded equipment and to follow the current practices of growers of all kinds of produce.

Whether the new systems are evolved at the station or not they must be incorporated. The history of the station has been written by a staff of experts in the various fields of agriculture and the head of the station has always been a man at the top of his profession. The station has had no better superintendent than the present J. J. Woods. Widely recognized as one of the leading plant pathologists of the country, he has maintained the highest of standards in the work at the station since his arrival here in 1941.

This year, among other innovations, are the introduction of facilities for the growing of bulbs in opaque houses. The bulbs raised in these buildings are treated only with artificial light and no daylight is permitted to enter. The thousand and one combinations possible of different types and degrees of light and various temperatures can make a vast difference to the quality of the bulb raised in the house. It is with a view to ascertaining the most efficacious combinations that

NO HARDSHIPS YET REPORTED AS TRANSPORT STRIKE
PARALYZES TOURIST AND FREIGHT MOVEMENTS

No great hardship or change in circumstances has resulted in this district from the first two days of the railway strike. Steamer services to the islands have been suspended and connections with those islands are virtually cut off. The Peninsula is still connected to the mainland by the Black Ball Ferry lines, operating out of Sidney, and to Salt Spring Island by the "Cy Peck."

Supplies of fresh meat are limited. It is anticipated by butchers in the area that there is enough meat available for about 10 days. If the strike continues after that period there will be an increase in the number of vegetarians in these parts.

The effects of the strike have been felt by the staffs of those transportation companies not involved in the strike.

RUSH CONTINUES

During the past five days more than 1,000 cars have been cleared at the Sidney Customs port. The Review learned at noon on Wednesday. The unprecedented rush continued at time of going to press.

cluded in the strike. Queues at Sidney, awaiting the Anacortes ferries, have been heavier than at any time in the history of that service. Since Saturday morning, when the first arrivals at Sidney wharf formed the beginning of the queue at 5 a.m., there has been no rest for the officials of the steamship line or for the customs and immigration officers. Both the S.S. Nisqually and the S.S. Kleikital have been carrying their full quota of 84 vehicles on most trips. The traffic into Sidney from these steamships has also been very heavy.

Peak Capacity

Another hive of activity has been the airport at Patricia Bay. All flights have been running at peak capacity and during the first day of the strike a total of 14 flights was made to Vancouver. The usual number is 10. The additional flights included that of one of the company's North Stars. The airline carried all passengers desirous of reaching the mainland.

Tourist resorts have reported a premature departure of many guests. Visitors from many parts of Canada relinquished the greater part of their holidays for fear of being stranded and unable to return to their employment.

Postal services are reduced to little more than a letter collection and delivery. Parcels and newspapers are not being accepted. The only other article taken by the post offices is prepaid airmail.

On Galiano and other Gulf Islands a mail delivery is being maintained by air. The post office on Galiano wharf will be open on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays from 9 a.m. until 10 a.m. Incoming mail will be available at these times.

Commodities of all kinds will become more scarce as the strike progresses.

INVESTIGATES FIRE BRIGADES UP-ISLAND

Extensive investigation into the possibilities of volunteer fire brigades is being carried out by Sydney Pickles, president of the Ward Six Ratepayers' Association. Mr. Pickles has made a trip up-island to inspect the operation of the different types of fire service to be found in other areas. He has visited a number of centres including Parksville, Courtenay and Comox.

His enquiries are being made with a view to learning of the difficulties likely to face the new municipality upon its being formed from the old Ward Six of Saanich Municipality. Mr. Pickles favors the system of a volunteer brigade financed out of the municipal revenue.

N. Saanich Debentures

Bank of Montreal and Associates Buy
$183,000 Issue From School District

Debentures of Saanich School District No. 53, to provide for the construction of new schools throughout the area, have been sold to McMahon & Burns, of Vancouver, and the Bank of Montreal, jointly, for $100.25.

The sale of the $183,000 worth of bonds was transacted at the Monday evening meeting of the board of trustees in the Sidney office.

Three other bids from representative financial houses were received for the bonds but the tender accepted was the highest which was acceptable to the board. General satisfaction was voiced by members of the board over the satisfactory price received.

The Division

The $183,000 is the share which the unorganized territory of North Saanich must provide to complete the $750,000 program for new educational institutions which was approved by the ratepayers this spring. The provincial government matches this amount while the remainder will come from Saanich Municipality, with the provincial government again equalling its contribution.

Progress was reported at the meeting in connection with the construction program. Plans for the new buildings are now being finalized by the board's architects and bids for the large construction jobs will be invited shortly.

Urgent need of the additional space for children was emphasized at the meeting when trustees attempted to arrange a schedule for the transportation of pupils when schools re-open next month. Scores of the kiddies will have to be conveyed long distances. It is hoped that some of the new schools will be ready for occupancy in one year but it is not certain that all will be in use by that time.

"Chief Engineer" Of Early
Ferry Away Back In 1894

—Still Reads The Review

Leon King, 73-year-old native son of Salt Spring Island, called in at The Review office on Thursday during one of his short, periodic visits to Sidney. Mr. King is a farmer at Beaver Point.

Purpose of his visit was to pay his subscription to The Review. He has been a regular subscriber to this newspaper since 1913 and he's anxious not to miss an issue.

Now it's a good many years from 1913, when The Review first began to serve Saanich and the Gulf Islands, to 1950. And that means that Mr. King has paid a good many dollars for his Reviews. But he likes it so well today that he paid his subscription two years in advance. He plans to live a long time and he's now assured of regular delivery of The Review until 1952 at least.

Early Ferry Service

His business transacted, Mr. King remained for a chat. Naturally The Review's campaign for adequate ferry service was mentioned. The pioneer islander grinned as he recalled one of the first ferries linking Salt Spring Island and the Saanich Peninsula.

"When I was much younger, I think it was around 1894, we ran our own ferry," he recalled. "We used an Indian canoe and a friend and I would paddle any traveler from Beaver Point to the Sidney wharf. If the tide was favorable, we could make this voyage in about two and a half hours. The round trip could often be completed in around five hours. For this trip we'd receive $2.50 and believe me that was a lot of money in those days before the Gold Rush."

"How's Alf Ruckle?" asked The Review. The two pioneers of Beaver Point had played together as children and had been neighbors ever since. "He's not up to the mark these days, I'm sorry to say," replied Mr. King. "How's old Jimmy White?"

Mr. King was informed that Mr. White was apparently in the pink of robust health and never missed his two daily journeys to the Sidney Post Office. The visitor was pleased with this information for as he pointed out: "I'm just a youngster whereas J. J. White is getting along in years."

BIG SALMON.
LONG FIGHT

Wesley A. Jones, of McTavish Road, Sidney, spent a successful week-end fishing. While out on his boat Mr. Jones hooked and landed a 27-pound salmon. The fisherman commented that it took him more than half an hour to play the fish before he brought it aboard his boat.

AGES OF HIS BROTHERS AND SISTERS TOTAL 661 YEARS

David Gash, of Sidney, is a young man of 80 years of age. He is not as active as he was in his younger days, but in his family name would be written in gold across the country. It was not long before the promise was carried out. The gold lettering is the characteristic of the bus line. The company is now worth 20 times the original outlay.

Since the year 1216, the Gash family has lived in the Lincolnshire district. A parcel of land was given to the family in the Kilton district, when it was reclaimed from the sea in that year. The family received it in token of their services in investigating the loss of King John's jewels in the Wash. There are two small towns close together, Kilton and Kilton Holme. The two points lie about four miles apart and the name of Gash is well known to both. The original farm is still in the hands of the same family.

Miss Louise Woods Wed at Sidney Church On Saturday

In a very beautiful ceremony at St. Andrew's Church, Sidney, during the afternoon of Saturday, August 19, Mary Louise Woods, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Woods, Saanichton, exchanged marriage vows with Gordon Ritchie Webster, son of Mrs. N. Lewis, of Kindersley, Sask., before Rev. Roy Melville. Mr. Woods is the superintendent of the Dominion Experimental Station at Saanichton.

The bride wore a gown of white brocade organza, fashioned on period lines with hoop skirt revealing dainty lace tiers. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and red roses. The bridesmaids were Misses Nan and Peggy Woods, sisters of the bride. They were in white organza with green embossed flowers over green taffeta, and they carried colonial bouquets of mauve and yellow with coronets of the same shades.

Supporting the groom was Bob Fletcher, of Agassiz. Hugh Gardner and Eric Munro were ushers. E. V. Edwards was at the organ.

Following the ceremony a reception was held on the lawn at the home of the bride's parents.

dren, David and Susan, left on Sunday for their home after a two-week visit with Mrs. Arnott's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Drew, Glamorgan Farm.

LOOKING AHEAD

"Better late than never" is a saying which does not apply to life insurance. Too often late means never. If you delay in applying for the proper amount of assurance protection you may ultimately find you have fallen below the required medical standards. Each day medical examinations are obliged to turn down applications for insurance from people whose need for it is great. Many of these disappointed people could have qualified a year or so earlier but the development of a health impairment makes them now uninsurable.

Statistically speaking, 20% of men are already uninsurable when they reach the age of forty. Keep this figure in mind. Don't be too late applying for your life insurance. Call me today!

The general convener of the garden party was Mrs. E. G. Woodward, most ably assisted by Mrs. C. E. Giles and Mrs. S. V. Campbell.

Introduced by C. U. Haywood, vice-president of the association, Hon. Herbert Anscomb officially opened the affair and briefly addressed the gathering.

Mrs. Anscomb, Mrs. Pearkes, and Mrs. M. Atkins, wife of the president, each received a corsage in the party colors. These were presented by little Nancy Nicholson and Beverly and Vicki Thomas, respectively.

Various attractive booths did a good business during the afternoon. The ever popular home cooking was in charge of Mrs. F. P. F. Nicholson and Mrs. T. H. Kingscote; garden produce, F. P. F. Nicholson and Mrs. F. Eves; "white elephant," Misses Ann Copeland and B. Thomas; men's stall, T. M. Moilliet; ice cream and soft drinks, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Lomas. Mrs. R. D. Harvey's fortune telling corner was very popular.

Responsible for the several games and contests were Mr. and Mrs. F. Butler, Mr. and Mrs. W. James, Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Hemstreet, Mesdames M. Smart, V. C. Dawson, William Bullock, S. Webb, George Thomas; and G. Giles, A. Frayne, F. Riley, B. Bath, C. Goode, Howard Giles and his pony were ready to take the children for rides. At the gates were William Bullock, Colonel A. Ness, C. U. Haywood and A. Goodman.

The main attraction of the affair was the afternoon tea which was served at small tables under the huge oak trees at the back of the house. Each table was centred with a colonial posy arranged by the tea convener, Mrs. S. V. Campbell. The waitresses were ruffled aprons of the party blue. Assisting with the tea arrangements were Mesdames M. Atkins, C. U. Haywood, A. McEwen, Harper, and the Misses Moss, Nicholson, Atkins and Haywood.

The committee in charge is grateful to all who helped to make the garden party a success, more than $200 being realized.

Prize winners during the afternoon were Mrs. H. Anscomb, Mrs. W. Smart, Mrs. Normington and Mr. Hancock.

A HEALTHY SIGN

RESIDENTS of the unorganized territory of North Saanich can derive much satisfaction from the satisfactory price at which debentures of Saanich School District No. 63 were sold this week. The debentures will be issued on the credit only of the section of the school district which lies in the unorganized territory north of the present Saanich Municipality.

When bids greater than par are received for a debenture issue of this kind, it proves that the financial houses are convinced that this is a most stable part of Canada.

It's awfully good advertising for a district when bonds on the open market bring such a good return.

"MISS VICTORIA"

WITHIN the next week Miss Jacqueline Rhodes, of Ganges, will be in attendance at the Pacific National Exhibition. She will be there under the title of "Miss Victoria." Having been chosen by the judges at the original contest in Ganges, at the end of July, she has now been through the second phase. She has yet to enter the contest at the exhibition. The Review takes pleasure in making the announcement and wishing the young lady of Ganges good fortune.

Victoria is a large city as Island cities go. Its population makes the local towns and villages appear very small. It is a pleasant reflection for the young contestant that despite the size of Victoria, it is a resident of Ganges who is finally chosen to represent the city.

FISH

EVERY district has its own particular kind of natural resource which proves valuable to residents and visitors.

This area has been richly endowed by nature and the populace has been quick to develop the resources which nature has so generously provided.

One of our greatest assets enjoys its being under the surface of the water. Fish of many different kinds abound in these waters. They provide a livelihood for dozens of families and at the same time furnish sport for residents of this district and visitors from many distant points.

During the last few weeks fishing has been at its best and some outstanding catches have been reported. This is exceedingly good publicity for the district. It tends to bring visitors here in ever increasing numbers and the tourist industry is in reality the backbone of our livelihood.

One alert business house on the Peninsula has started a new tourist attraction in connection with fishing. Visitors can have their own salmon canned promptly and furnished with attractive labels showing the date it was caught, its type and size. All these new developments keep the tourist trade alive and increase the general prosperity of the district.

LIFE'S COMPENSATIONS

NATURE may be a very trying taskmaster at times but she has a way of providing some compensation for life's tribulations.

It's only about six months ago that residents of this area were suffering from the low temperatures, high winds and continued snowfall. The date of Friday, January 13 last, is still vivid in our memories.

The calendar rolls around and we find the month of August in the same year favoring us with just about the most delightful summer weather imaginable. But how many of us take the time to sing the Weather Man's praises when he turns out warm sunshine? We roundly condemn the severe weather but seldom express our appreciation of fine days.

There are those who pose as weather prophets who maintain that this district has passed the cycle of severe winters. They claim that we've suffered the severe variety for several years now and that the cycle has definitely changed.

Every resident will devoutly hope that this forecast is an accurate one but even if we have to suffer this winter if Jack Frost should reappear again for a period, let us remember the lovely summer weather that we're enjoying at present and be thankful that we live here.

...Letters To The Editor...

AUTHORSHIP

Editor, Review,
Sir:
In your editorial of August 10, entitled "Good Reading," which deals with a list of "best books," compiled by Arthur Cotterell, of the Parkville-Guelphum Beach Progress, the authorship of "The Principles of Psychology" is attributed to Henry James. This book, which was published in 1890, was written by William James, of Harvard, brother of the novelist, Henry James. While Henry James is regarded as the writer who originated the "International" novel his brother William, according to Ralph Barton Perry writing in the "Listener" of January 1, 1948, was "one of the few American philosophers whose profound and lasting influence cannot be doubted."
Yours faithfully,
W. C. JAMES.

APPRECIATIVE

Editor, Review,
Sir:
Having a few moments to spare, I am using them to write you this brief letter in appreciation of your weekly "In Review" column by Susan Sidney.
This feature provides not only easy and light-hearted reading, but also makes Sidney shopping sound most appealing. In originating this series of articles Susan Sidney has performed a public service that is appreciated by both shopper and shopkeeper alike.
In closing, may I express my that the writer is not alone in regarding "In Review" as being a thoroughly refreshing column to look forward to each week.

Yours ALFRED BLOME-JONES,

A Garden Is A Possessive Master

(By Lotta Dempsey, in Toronto Globe and Mail)

What d'you mean, you own a garden?

With the possible exception of a jealous spouse, a Dalmatian hound or a Soviet Collective farm, a garden is the most possessive master in the world.

From May until October, if you are one of the breed which likes growing things, and tend a window box or an acre, it owns you, body and soul.

And we're not referring to the seedling, weeding and mower-propulsion. That's incidental. We mean the way the blossom-scented earth can chain you beyond hope of reprieve; can make you as enslaved to the smallest leaf and stem up-shooting from the under-dark, as you are to the needs of your nearest and dearest.

Why not admit that you must sneak out in the moonlight to watch the lily pond, silvered and star-dawning? To smell the night-blooming nicotine, to see the white petunias and pale-petalled peonies glow against dark tangles of mistle leaf and fern? Stop pretending you emerged at dawn to let the cat in, when you were impelled to discover what air-borne visitor might be winged, scarlet or blazing blue wing-tips splashed with water, on the rim of your bird bath.

Don't tell yourself you're planning the week's menus, if you're ball-and-chained to the shade of the leafy lilacs, or the drowsy fragrance of the mock orange, of a sun-drenched afternoon. Why not admit that...

"A garden is a lovesome thing; God wot."

Why not? It sits contented at your feet. Knowing, though life moves fast, And time is fleet,

It webs you in, and binds you past

All power to shake it free.

Knowing, you'll come, on reverend knee

To tend the final flower, the last frail leaf

And call your freeing bondsman, winter frost,

All heaven's thief...

Prime Minister As a Cowboy

(Peterborough Examiner)

The West may be big and breezy, and Calgary high, wide and handsome during its Stampede week. But brassiness can be carried too far, beyond the bounds of decorum.

It seems to us an impertinence to ask or expect a gentleman with the age, position and dignity of Prime Minister St. Laurent to don a cowboy suit and parade in a chuckwagon down a city street. It may all be hearty, clean fun and a good publicity stunt for the promoters of the Stampede, but it is not the sort of thing the prime minister could relish, nor that most Canadians would expect of him.

When Mr. St. Laurent came to Peterborough six weeks ago on an official centenary-year visit, he was not expected to paddle a Trent Canal, or even to sit in one dressed in sports clothes for the benefit of this tourist-conscious Kawartha district. He rode in a limousine and was clothed impeccably as a Canadian statesman is expected to dress.

Reflections From the Past

20 YEARS AGO

On Friday the Galiano Hall was gaily decorated with red, white and blue, which made a gay setting for the dance arranged by the Canadian Legion. About 75 were present including numerous summer visitors. Mrs. C. Elverson, Mrs. Higgs and Mrs. D. New were in charge of arrangements. C. Elverson, W. Higgs and V. Zala also assisted.

At 1.30 o'clock Monday morning Mr. and Mrs. S. Fairclough and their son, Roland, of Coal Island, were aroused by an unusual disturbance. A dog, which was chained up outside, leaped through the window and in doing so broke his chain. It proved that a cougar was prowling outside the house. Roland shot the animal and it was brought over to Sidney and exhibited.

Pupils of Sidney school gained excellent standing in the school section at the Victoria Exhibition this week. (Continued from Page One.)

The work is being carried out by Jack Crossley. Mr. Crossley is widely known as an authority on bulb growers' problems.

A new greenhouse has also been built this year. It is built in the form of a wing to the main greenhouse and is provided with three chambers within its length. These may be maintained independently under varying conditions of temperature and are expressly designed for comparative experiments with all kinds of greenhouse produce. Prominent among these experiments will be bulb forcing. Temperature variation, in conjunction with artificial light, to extend daylight hours, will also be investigated.

The structure now in the course of erection on the site of the old barn will form a processing house for bulbs. Current practice demands the cooling of bulbs prior to their setting and this building will provide the necessary equipment. It will also make provision for innumerable other treatments of bulb.

New Pursuit

Bulb growing is among the newest of pursuits in Vancouver Island and there is more to be learned of it than most types of produce.

Pioneers and gardeners in the Saanich Peninsula have excellent facilities for gaining information regarding every crop that is grown here, and many that are not. In the course of a year the staff at the Experimental Station answer many thousands of enquiries regarding different produce and conditions.

MEDICAL EXPERIMENT

Rhonda Valley, in Wales, has been chosen for an experiment to test a scientific theory that pneumonia is due to a combination of tuberculosis infection and dust in the lungs. Beginning next month, more than 30,000 residents of mining communities will receive chest X-rays. It is hoped that, through knowledge gained in this study, it may be possible to stamp out T.B. among miners.

The Review's Book Review

"TOO LITTLE LOVE," by Robert Henriques; Viking Press; 562 pp., $4.50.

The title suggests a different type of book altogether. The word love is used to describe communal love or the state where each man loves his fellows as a group. In his description of life in England during the past 30 years or so the author leaves little doubt that the title would be most inapt in any other sense.

The book is drawn out over a long period. Starting in the England of 1926 it finishes in the England of the present day. The characters are shown in the evolutionary process of socialization. There is only one feature that makes the story difficult to read. There is much of the mental processes of his characters introduced by the author. They are realistic, but the trend is not clear until the end of the story. The whole complexity of their mental struggles is opened and explained in the third part. This is the story of England today. Mainly dealing with the farming communities it describes how each man, the great and the small, sees socialism.

The ultimate message in the story appears to be in the nature of a moral. It suggests that whether a man likes the new regime or not; whether he is a socialist or not; it is still his own country that he is living in and it is to him to do his best for the benefit of that country. This is a good moral at any time and in the face of any problem. There are many people who would do well to learn that lesson today. They come from all parts of the world and embrace a number of "isms" in politics.

From the life of a country gentleman in the 1920's to the life of the new aristocracy in the 1940's is a long step. The story of the decay of the already decadent Meredith family is in many places a sad one. The reader sees the family disintegrate and crumble away. The only saving clause is that it is difficult to offer any justification for the family's existence. Through the story the Merediths are morally bankrupt and the only justification for that particular group, that is offered by the group itself, is that they provide officers for the army in event of war. The reader is left with the sensation that it is a hollow excuse for living.

Of the story itself there is little that can be adequately said. It is excellently written and it is very entertaining reading. The plot is too complex to be analyzed in this space.—F.G.R.

The Wise Gardener
 Notes From Saanichton Experimental Station
 Although the question is often asked, it is not difficult to tell when cantaloupes, you may have coming along in the garden, are ripe. The stem separates readily from the fruit at maturity. Therefore, look closely at the fruit, where the stem is attached, and as soon as you see a small crack developing in a circle around the stem, the melon may be picked. It will come away on the "full slip," as the commercial growers say. At the same time the color of the melon changes, usually becoming light orange under the netting.
 Another guide is that the melon also develops the aroma, typical of its kind, with approaching maturity. Watch for the signs, and pick when first ripe, because some varieties rot quickly if allowed to remain. The ripeness of watermelons is more difficult to determine, as due to differences in rind thickness, shape, etc., each variety has a slightly different sound when thumped. However, in general, the right sound is much like that obtained from snapping your forefinger against your throat. The melon tends to shiver when thumped, and on pressure you will hear internal cracking, due to shattering of the flesh.
 A bright ring on thumping means "hands off, not ripe." Never remove a plug for observation, because when replaced, the melon will rot, not ripen.
 Christmas Tulips
 If you want to have real early tulips around Christmas, for example, now is the time to get busy. First choose a good forcing variety outdoors. A few good varieties of this class are, De Wit (orange), William Pitt (red), Wm. Copland (mauve), Rose Copland. These should be secured as soon as possible and, for the best results, put into your refrigerator for about a month. Although the best temperature is 48°F, 42 to 45, which is the temperature that most household refrigerators operate at, will serve very well. After a month of this treatment the bulbs should be taken out and potted in a good mixture of friable soil, sand and screened compost or peat. One-third of each is satisfactory. Water well and then store the pots where the temperature is as near 48° as possible, until about the beginning of December. At that time bring the bulbs into the light and grow at a temperature of 55° to 63° for the first week or two. After this, higher temperatures (65-70°) can be used, though the best flowers develop around 62°F. Storing them in the refrigerator should commence not later than about mid-August for best results. Storage at 48° assures earlier blooms, larger stems and more uniform flowering. For late January, February and March flowering, the refrigerator treatment is not necessary but a cool, steady rooting temperature will pay dividends no matter what season flowering is desired. By bringing the bulbs into the light at intervals of about 10 days to two weeks a succession of bloom can be had.
 BLANKETS FOR WINNIPEG FLOOD VICTIMS
 The Federation of Scottish Junior Chambers of Commerce have forwarded a consignment of Scottish all-wool blankets to the Winnipeg Junior Chamber of Commerce for distribution by the Red Cross to the victims of the Winnipeg floods. Private individuals and several senior Chambers of Commerce subscribed towards the gift, the choice of which was decided upon after a cable to Winnipeg had resulted in a request for blankets.

"I'm Going on a Diet"
 Perhaps overeating is the most common dietary indiscretion. The natural result of overeating is obesity. It has been said that we eat ourselves into a premature grave. The pendulum then frequently swings back to the other extreme. We go on a diet. Many self-imposed reducing diets wouldn't keep a bird alive, and often serious vitamin, mineral and protein deficiencies result. In recent years great strides have been made in our knowledge of nutrition. For the maintenance of optimal health, one must be assured that proper balance of various foods is maintained. For dietary advice of any kind see your physician. You can then be certain that all bodily needs are being adequately met. Bring your prescription to us.

FORMER LOCAL TEACHER WINS SCHOLARSHIP

Winners of the $2,000 Canadian Amateur Hockey Association scholarships were announced recently. Donald S. Wilson, of Vancouver and John Beckwith, of Victoria, were the successful art students. Mr. Wilson is a former teacher at Mount Newton high school.

The student of dramatic art has been connected with the Vancouver Little Theatre and the U.B.C. Players' Club for a number of years. He is 24 years of age. He applied for the scholarship to assist him in a post-graduate course at the Yale University school of the theatre. Mr. Wilson has already gained the degrees of Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Education at the U.B.C.

Regarded as one of the most talented of young actors and directors in western Canada Mr. Wilson has already achieved not in his chosen profession. In 1949 he was honored at the B.C. Drama Festival and the Portland (Oregon) Civic Theatre Association.

Mr. Wilson is at the end of the season of a summer stock theatre, which he has been directing at East Alstead, New Hampshire. In the fall he will follow his studies at Yale University, where he will study for the degree of Master of Fine Arts. When his studies are completed Mr. Wilson intends to return to Canada and pursue his career as teacher of dramatics and producer.

Among his many friends in Sidney and North Saanich are Mr. and Mrs. P. Bodkin, of Beaufort Road.

THE REVIEW'S MARKET LETTER

(Supplied by H. A. Humber Ltd.)

The market surged forward this week in what brokers described as "impressive" fashion even before the Korean news took a turn for the better. Industrials quit the "shell" in which they had lingered while consolidating the ground covered in the first phase of recovery from the lows which followed the outbreak of hostilities with a rise of 1.98 to a new recovery high of 217.76.

Railroads sparked the general advance and while they gave up almost half their gains in late profit-taking this index ended up at highest close since the 1948 high was set July 14 of that year at 64.95. Utilities were up a relatively large amount.

MINERAL DEPOSITS IN SHETLAND ISLES

Three London scientists, equipped with the latest magnetic and electrical devices, are at present based at Hillswick, in the Shetland Isles, where they are investigating the possibility of developing magnetite deposits on Clouthier Hill. Large quantities of high-grade ore were recovered from a shaft in this district during the war and the assay of magnetite was then stated to be 60 to 70 per cent.

FORMER RESIDENT OF JAMES ISLAND PASSES

A former resident of James Island, Sarah Rivers, aged 74 years, passed away in Victoria on Friday last. She was the widow of the late William Rivers.

The deceased was born in Durham, England, and came to this district with her late husband many years ago. They resided on James Island prior to 1919 when they moved to Victoria.

One daughter and two sons survive: Mrs. Florence Roberts of Vancouver; Raymond of Victoria, and Ernest, of Vancouver. There are two grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted on Monday afternoon and interment followed in Colwood Burial Park.

It is estimated that there are more than 3,400,000 households in Canada.

Visit Sidney From Union Bay

Three members of the crew of the Dominion Government Hydrographic Survey vessel William J. Stewart spent the week-end at their homes in Sidney and Saanichton.

The vessel was tied up at Union Bay, near the northern extremity of the Island Highway. Roy Moore, Patricia Bay; Milton Young, Saanichton, and John G. Kinghorn, Sidney, arrived in Sidney on Saturday night and returned on Sunday night.

The three were among a party from the ship that was brought down in the cars they had chartered for the occasion. J. G. Newman, of Beacon Cabs, Sidney, was among the taxi operators who provided transport.

Mr. Newman observed that the road is excellent throughout. Between Cassidy Airport and Nanaimo, the surface is bad. Elsewhere the only major shortcoming in the road is the approach to the many bridges. These are almost all very rough, he said. He was particularly impressed with the portion of the road to the north of Nanaimo. It is an excellent road and he could find no criticism.

ELMOR JOHN SEES OPPORTUNITIES IN INTERIOR

Unlimited opportunity exists for development in the interior of British Columbia. Elmor John, of Sidney, was impressed with the vastness of the undeveloped territories he visited on a recent visit to the mainland. Accompanied by Mrs. John and her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Robertson, the well-known Sidney resident has recently returned from a 2,700 mile tour of the province.

Among the places they visited were the Okanagan Valley, the Caribou, Prince Rupert, Lillooet and Harrison Hot Springs.

Mr. John recalled that the last time he was in that territory the roads were dirt. Today they are mostly paved. He believes that the only factor holding up the earlier development of the interior was the poor quality of the roads. There is no such barrier today. "You could get all Western Europe in that territory," he commented.

Great industrial undertakings are already becoming interested in the possibilities of that country.

SIDNEY LEGIONNAIRES TROUNCE CHEMAINUS IN DOUBLE-HEADER

Living up to the expectations of Bryan Forster, the local Legionnaires swept their four-game series with Chemainus by winning their two home games Sunday by scores of 8-1 and 4-0.

Eddie Corbitt, pitching in the opener for Sidney, was a little wild but nonetheless he allowed only two hits. Sidney's hitting was effective, especially in the person of Tom Cormack, who knocked out three singles for three trips to the plate. Little Jimmy Pearson earned a good hand from the fans for his work at the plate by leading the local men in runs batted in. Barely as big as the bat he swings,

SIDNEY LADY IS BEREAVED

Mrs. Chester Rich, of Sidney, was bereaved when her mother, Mrs. Margaret Ralph, of Saanich, passed away at the Royal Jubilee hospital on Tuesday, Aug. 15. Mrs. Ralph was 68 years of age and was born in England. She had resided in B.C. for 38 years.

She is also survived by her husband, Thomas; five sons, Herbert, David, Stanley and Walter, of Victoria, and Reg., of Whitehorse; another daughter, Mrs. T. (May) Copley; 17 grandchildren; two sisters and a brother.

Funeral services were held in the Memorial Chapel of Chimes of Sand's Mortuary on Friday, Aug. 18. Rev. F. W. McKinnon officiated. Interment followed in Royal Oak Burial Park.

Mr. John was interested in the progress that is being made by those industrial developments.

Jimmy laid down two perfect bunts on two successive trips, each one effective in bringing a run across for Sidney.

Night Game

In the night game Chemainus were able to spike their line-up with two players from Duncan. One of these replacements was pitcher Alan Goldie who held the Legionnaires to three hits. Taking advantage of four Chemainus errors in the first inning, Sidney pushed in four runs and that's the way the ball game ended, 4-0. Herbie Steele, on the mound for the Legion men was in good form and held a tight rein on the visitors, giving up a lean two hits.

Victim of an unfortunate accident half way through the second game was umpire Ted Meredith. Struck on the arm by a foul tip, Meredith was forced to go to hospital where his arm was X-rayed. Results of the X-rays showed that the muscle in his forearm was very badly bruised.

Line-ups

First game: Sidney — Dudman, Karadimas, R. Pearson, Wilson, Jones, D. Peddle, T. Cormack, J. Pearson, E. Corbitt.

"Hard Times" Dance At Mahon Hall

Under the general convenership of Mrs. Charles Houghton, the Salt Spring Island Athletic Club staged a "hard times" dance last Friday evening in the Mahon Hall, Ganges. The only form of decoration was masses of blue hydrangeas arranged along the front of the stage.

About 200 attended the dance. W. A. Trelford acted as master of ceremonies and Testar's five-piece orchestra supplied the music.

Alan Cartwright, on behalf of the community, presented a gift to Jacqueline Rhodes who, as "Miss Victoria," will be sent to represent that city at the Pacific National Exhibition which opened August 23. Miss Rhodes was also the recipient of a corsage from the Salt Spring Island Parent-Teachers' Association.

Prizes for the best "hard times" costumes were won by the following: 1, Mrs. W. A. Trelford and Jerry Howard; 2, Mrs. Ernest Booth and John Knight.

Supper was convened by Mrs. W. A. Coates, assisted by members of the club.

Alan Cartwright officiated at the door, and the money realized, after expenses are paid, will go towards the fund for the club room.

"Blossom Time" Delights Large Arena Audience

Of the considerable audience present in the Memorial Arena, Victoria, on Monday evening at the opening of the second week of the Starlight Theatre, few left without the warm satisfaction of having seen an outstanding production. The combination of good music and excellent cast brought into life the gaiety and pathos of old Vienna in Sigmund Romberg's "Blossom Time."

Playing the part of Franz Schubert was Ralph Magelssen. He has already been seen, both this season and last, in the Starlight productions. In each phase of the development of his role, from an unknown to a great and pathetic figure, he was fully in command of the situation. His friend and rival, Baron Schober, was played by Ernest Adams. There was no question of the baron's part. Ernest Adams is one of the leading baritone in Canada. That was evident from his first appearance.

Ann Andre, first rate singer and actress, was unexceptionable in the role of Mitzi Kranz. In every scene and each different emotion she portrayed her part perfectly. Wini Hutt as La Bella Bruna was the epitome of the prima donna.

Good Support

The dancers and the supporting cast were good throughout. Karl Norman, in the role of Johan Michael Vogl; Derek McDermot as Kuppelweiser, and Stan Lattner, playing Moritz von Schwind, were both amusing and entertaining. Each has a voice that holds the interest of the audience and all proved themselves to be possessed of considerable ability.

The only leading role without singing was that of Kristian Kranz. Played by E. V. Young, every line in the part made its mark. His wife, Mrs. Kranz, was Babs Hitchman. She was the very realistic complement of the tipping Kristian.

Count Scharnloff, reviled elderly husband of the prima donna, was played by Ed. McNamara.

From the first line to the finale "Blossom Time" was excellent entertainment and more than upheld the standard of the Starlight Theatre.—F. G. R.

Tourist Lodge Proprietor Protests Removal of Directional Signs

Residents and motorists on the Saanich Peninsula have recently noticed that a number of signs directing traffic to various points have disappeared.

The following letter, which was recently addressed to an official of the provincial government, is self-explanatory:

August 14, 1950.
E. G. Rowebottom,
Deputy Minister of Trade and Industry,
Victoria, B.C.

Dear Mr. Rowebottom:

Thank you very much indeed for your most courteous and sympathetic letter of the 9th inst. From your letter we feel sure that you understood our protest in connection with the present policy of the department of public works regarding directional signs, was made in the interest not only of ourselves, but of the whole traveling public in general.

The mail that brought me your letter, also brought by registered mail the enclosed letter from H. F. Bourne, district engineer for the department of public works. We gather from Mr. Bourne's letter that it is now the intention of the department of public works to remove any remaining signs we have, including the ones on our own property one of which is a Neon sign that has cost us around $300. The application form for the erection of signs at the government expense (and which Mr. Bourne refers to in his letter) was duly filled in, signed, and sent by us to his office some six weeks ago.

FREIGHTER CALLS AT SIDNEY

Large numbers of yachts and impressive private launches visiting Sidney during the week were supplemented by the arrival of SS. Alaska Prince on Monday afternoon. The freighter was on her way to Alaska and cleared at the North Saanich port.

During the last four years we have invested a very large sum of money to make Brenta Lodge one of the finest resorts in British Columbia. To do what we have done took courage, initiative and industry. That we were justified in our vision is proved by the increase in business we have experienced this season. Our gross returns for the current year will be the highest we have ever had.

The welfare of our business is a matter that concerns the interests and welfare of the whole province. Unfortunately, in connection with the above matter, and also in connection with the drainage problems at Brentwood Bay, the department of public works has shown a complete disregard and unconcern for such matters.

Thanking you for your co-operation.
Cordially yours,
DONALD H. McKAY,
Manager.

"Every year science is creating more 'miracles' to make living easier in countless ways. And what we see today is only the beginning of an amazing new era of comfort and convenience."

"But it seems to me that some people are expecting too many miracles. For instance, they believe that, by some kind of magic, old-age benefits will provide all the money they're ever going to need when they retire."

"I believe in security for everyone, but I want mine planned to suit my own individual needs. That's why I have my own life insurance."

Crusty, Crunchy DINNER ROLLS

• They're really ritzy—and no trouble at all to make, with new Fleischmann's Royal Fast Rising Dry Yeast! Gives you fast action—light doughs—and none of the bother of old time perishable yeast! Get a dozen packages—keeps full strength without refrigeration!

CRUSTY DINNER ROLLS

• Measure into a large bowl 1/2 c. lukewarm water, 1 tsp. granulated sugar; stir until sugar is dissolved. Sprinkle with 1 envelope Fleischmann's Royal Fast Rising Dry Yeast. Let stand 10 mins., THEN stir well.

Add 3/4 c. lukewarm water and 1 tsp. salt. Add, all at once, 3 1/2 c. once-sifted bread flour and work in with the hands; work in 3 lbs. soft shortening. Knead on lightly-floured board until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl. Cover with a damp cloth and set in warm place, free from draught. Let rise until doubled in bulk. Punch down dough in bowl, fold over, cover and again let rise until doubled in bulk. Turn out on lightly-floured board and divide into 12 equal portions, shape each piece into a long roll about 1 1/2" in diameter. Cover with a damp cloth and let rest 15 mins. Using a floured sharp knife, cut dough into 2" lengths and place, well apart, on ungreased cookie sheets. Sprinkle rolls with cornmeal and brush with cold water and let rise another 1/2 hour. Meanwhile, stand a broad shallow pan of hot water in the oven and preheat oven to hot, 425°. Remove pan of water from oven and bake the rolls in steam-filled oven for 1/2 hour, brushing them with cold water and sprinkling lightly with cornmeal after the first 15 mins., and again brushing them with cold water 2 minutes before removing baked buns from the oven. Yield—18 rolls.

HE MISSED "THE REVIEW"
The Review received a postcard this week from one of its most distant subscribers, Ernest Crofton, of Shangford End, Selkirk, Ross-on-Wye, Herefordshire, England.

Mr. Crofton wrote: "The Review has not come for the last two weeks—I miss it."

Mr. Crofton's paper is forwarded from this office regularly each week and it is hoped the missing issues have reached him by this time.

There is no delay in the postal service westbound for his card was written on August 4 and delivered in Sidney on August 21.

REFRESHER AIR COURSE
Training program for ex-R.C.A.F. pilots will be recommenced at Patricia Bay Airport in the near future. Victoria Flying Club will start the training program as soon as the new Chipmunk trainer is received. It is expected to arrive here about November. The program will cover the training of about 18 ex-pilots from the southern Vancouver Island area.

Chief instructor will be Jack Barton, of Victoria, former instructor in the air force. He will be supported by Dave Filby, of Sidney, who will be his stand-by. This arrangement is the reverse of the procedure within the club. The latter schedule has Mr. Filby as permanent instructor and Mr. Barton as his stand-by.

20 Hours Flying
The pupils will spend about 20 hours in the air and 20 on the ground. The program will be arranged to interfere as little as possible with the private life of the pupil. It will be completed within a three-month period.

The maintenance and servicing of the new Chipmunk will be the responsibility of the club. It will come under the jurisdiction of Mr. Filby, who is ground mechanic as well as a flying instructor. He was a staff flying instructor in the R.C.A.F. during the war.

AWAY TO CAMP
Three Sidney boys have left to attend the final camp session of the season at Camp Columbia, operated by the Anglican Church at Thetis Island. The trio included Jimmy Swan, Bobby Fox and Terry Melville.

Annual School Children's Garden Competition Draws To Close
The annual garden competition sponsored in North Saanich schools by the Sidney Rotary Club is rapidly drawing to a close. Points of the various contestants are determined 75% on the garden itself and 25% on the exhibits made at the annual Saanich-Fair on Labor Day.

The judging of the gardens has already been completed and the results of the Labor Day exhibition will determine the final winners.

Two boys and two girls from each of Sidney, Deep Cove and McTavish Road schools have entered the competition and the quality of each garden is exceedingly high this year.

For the exhibition boys are required to exhibit the following: two marrows, four carrots, four beets, four ears of corn, shelled dried peas and beans. They should put the peas and beans in paper bags, one-half a pint being adequate. Exhibition officials will place them in containers for judging and display.

Girls are requested to place their entries in their own sealers which will be returned to them. They will exhibit one bottle of each of the following: canned peas, beans, small whole beets and diced carrots.

All contestants are asked to have their exhibits ready for collection by members of the Rotary Club on Sunday, September 3.

SIDNEY BUSINESSMAN SEES GREAT CHANGE IN OIL FIELDS
Everett Olson, of Pleasant Street, Sidney, has returned to his home after a holiday whose keynote was oil. Visiting his parents in Leduc, Alta., the Sidney tractor serviceman was impressed with the growth of the oilfields.

While he was there the Dewar No. 1 well blew in. Mr. Olson presented The Review with a bottle of crude from that well. For the benefit of those who are not acquainted with the nature of crude oil, Mr. Olson remarked that it had a strong odor. He was right. In a short time The Review office resembled Leduc in the nature of the aroma coming from the bottle.

Mr. Olson was amazed at the development that had taken place in the oilfields. Not many miles from Leduc is the town of Devon. Thriving community, with cinema, cafes, stores and every facility it was not even a village three and a half years ago.

Success
Reminiscences of the success of various farmers in the area are without end, he remarked. There was one farmer of his acquaintance who sold his lease for $300,000. When the well came in his property was damaged and he received another $80,000 in compensation.

Another land-owner sold his lease for $30,000. The money was immediately invested in the well that was being drilled on that land. It proved to be a dry well and he was left no better off than when he started, except for the excellent dry hole that he had acquired.

Mr. Olson anticipates that within the next year or so a well will be drilled on his father's property.
